Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 14 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Rain and cloud clearing from the east.

Today:
Rain, locally heavy this morning, will clear eastwards during the day, but with a chance of sleet over hills. Remaining largely cloudy throughout with hill fog. Feeling rather mild in the west, but cooler in the east. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Tonight:
Any rain or sleet should clear this evening. Cloud will begin to fade leading to briefly clear skies before a risk of frost and fog later. Becoming cold. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Friday:
A cold day ahead with areas of fog clearing to patchy cloud and some sunny spells. An early frost is likely before clouds build and winds begin to strengthen later. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Windy with rain and snow on Saturday, this possibly disruptive. Mainly dry, bright, but cold on Sunday. Bright and a little milder with light winds on Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.